CUMBERLAND (Md..) Sept. 22.—The residence of Absolom Kesler, a miserly farmer, aged 80 years, living on the West Virginia side of the river, near Pawpaw, was discovered on fire at 1 o'clock this morning. Neighbors hurried to the scene, and were horrified to find Kesler and Albert Gross, the hired man, lifeless in the yard. The house-keeper, Anna Doman, was also murdered, but her body was consumed in the flames. The object of the crime evidently was robbery.

Kesler was known to keep a large sum of money about the house, but a few weeks ago was persuaded to put most of his money in the bank here. The robbers secured about $200, it is thought. After beating the two men to death with a blunt instrument, as they supposed, they set the building on fire to cover up their crime, but the men had life enough left to crawl out into the yard. The officers claim to have a clew which they are working on.

Lieut. Lome and five of his scouts, who were on the train, made a vigorous defense and caused the enemy to flee. Six dead repels were afterwards found in the thicket from which the rebel tire came.

Gen. Wheaton, with six companies, proceeded from Calulit to the relief of the train, but his services were then not needed.

FOUR DEPARTMENTS. Plan to Divide the Army in the Philippines.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—A plan is under consideration at the War De-partment to create an army division of the Philippines and divide the division into departments on a basis similar to that in Cuba. The idea is to create four departments in the Philippines, at least three of them to be cor four departments in the Philippines, at least three of them to be commanded by major-generals. The Philippines heretofore have been known as the Department of the Pacific.

It is expexcted that one department of the proposed new division will consist of Gen. MacArthur's command, north of Manila; another will be Gen. Lawton's command, south of Manila, and a third will be a new command, to operate from Lingayen or Dagupan. A furth department probably will consist of troops in the island south of Manila, which includes the commands now at Iloilo, Cebu and other points.

The scheme has not yet taken such definite form as to determine the commands of the divisions and departments. There is little doubt, however, that Lawton and MacArthur will remain where they are now, and probably the command in the islands south will be under a brigadier-general. Another officer will have to be selected for the department in the far northern part of the islands, at the terminus of the Dagupan Railroad.

The plan is to give each department commander all the troops that can be successfully operated, and also insure sufficient garrisons for all points taken. Protection to the peaceable tribes is one of the chief objects sought, as representations made to the War Department indicate that many of the inhabitants do not want to fight, and, if unmolested and relieved from fear of attack by the Tagalos, will assist in supporting the authority of the United attack by the Tagalos, will assist in supporting the authority of the United States and make it impossible for the followers of Aguinaldo to subsist.

On the 1st of February last he was on his plantation, when he was surrounded by a deputation of natives, who made him a prisoner. He was forced to follow the movements made by the so-called Filipino republic, and tramp through much and water and over mountains in the wanderings.

"Two weeks before the arrival at Manila, he saw at Bigaa Lieut. Gilmore and his fourteen fellow-prisoners. From his report it is judged that they have fared badly at the hands of their captors, and although their courage was undaunted, they were in bad shape physically, in reality being half-starved.

The failure of the United States to ransom them, as expected, had so enraged the insurgents that their treatment, which for some time had been kind, had since become the reverse. IOWA REGIMENT.

Transport Senator Leaves Manila for San Francisco.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Manila cablegram says the transport Senator sailed tonight for San Francisco with the Iowa volunteers. The regiment now consists of 769 men and 49 officers. They were under fire fifteen times, lost one man killed and 36 men and two officers wounded. One man was captured by rebels, 10 died from diseases, 51 were invalided, 71 men and two officers reënlisted, and forty men were discharged here. On the morning the regiment left the front, only 216 men were fit for duty. When the regiment came to the Phillippines its strength was 1020 men When it arrived at Manila Bay it was at once sent to Iloilo without the troops being disembarked. It returned February 4 without having been ashore at Iloilo, and after having been aboard ship for ninety-three days, was sent to the front immediately. The men never saw Manila until they were or-dered home.

Many reports are current that the rebels have been successful in securing arms. It is said that all rifles, etc., obtained by the insurgents are landed by Japanese filibusters. It is impossible t verify the reports.

The Hungry Travelers Fed by the Baisin City-Committee Wired for That Privilege.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Over one hundred men of the California Heavy Artillery, who were mustered out of the service yesterday, departed this afternoon for their former homes in Los Angeles. The people of Los Angeles are anxious that the men shall reach that city at 12:30 o'clock sharp, and Master of Transportation Richardson issued an order to that effect today. They will be taken south in a special train.

Some concern was felt for the comfort of the men because it was said there had been no provision made for been no provision made for feeding the men route. This, however, has been dispelled through the kindness of the ladies of Fresno. A committee of the Red Cross of of that city telegraphed to the railroad officials this morning, that if the train could be made to reach Fresno at 9 p.m., they would see that the men were fed. The railroad people wired back that Fresno would be made at 9 p.m. sharp.

An enthusiastic greeting was extended to the returning soldiers, whose safe arrival was announced by the blowing of steam whistles and the dis-charge of cannon. Notification of the Zealandia's coming was promptly given and two tugs went out to greet the transport. One tug had on board a number of officials of California and of San Francisco and members of the Reception Committee, reinforced by a brass band. The other carried Gov. A green book has been issued containing the report of State Attorney Smuts to the government on the pour parieurs between himself and the British diplomatic ament, Greene, leading to the conditional five-years' franchise proposal.

Smuts asserts that the proposal was the result of a private discussion, and an arrangement that both govern-ments should formally decide about the offer and its acceptance before the offer should be formally submitted. He also contends that the exact draft of the offer was wired to the British High Commission, Sir Alfred Milner, and that the imperial government sent a dispatch to Greene which the latter interpreted as an acceptance of the offer.

a dispatch to Greene which the latter interpreted as an acceptance of the offer.

Smut says that had the Transvaal known any difficulty would be made about sovereignty, his government would never have made the proposals, but would have probably immediately accepted the invitation to a joint commission of inquiry regarding the seven-year proposal. He also denies that he promised Greene that the new members of the Raad would be allowed to speak English. All he said on this subject, he declares, was that the matter would easily settle itself, and he shows that, in the telegram to Sir Afired Milner, no mention was made of this subject.

The government denies that State Attorney Smuts has informed Conyngham Greene that further British mobilization will be regarded as an unfriendly act.

Boers Want Rain and the English Additional Troops.
[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 .- A dispatch to the Tribune from London says the cor-respondence between Sir Alfred Milner and President Steyn strengthens the current belief here that tomorrow's Cabinet Council will decide to send out from 10,000 to 20,000 additional tre o South Africa, and leave all to South Africa, and leave all ques-tions of diplomacy open until their ar-rival. Meanwhile the Orange Free State leaders and the Afrikander bund will bestir themselves to keep peace between England and the Transval, and will have the best wishes of the English Conservatives, like Sir Edward Clarke, who are hoping that war may be averted.

Leading financiers in the city are convinced that war is inevitable, since neither President Kruger nor Chamberlain can retreat with honor, and there is no other way out of it. That there is no other way out of it. That is the commonest expression heard in Lombard street that each side has gone too far to turn back, and hence there is nothing to do but fight it out.

The Cabinet meeting ended at 2:40 p.m. The Ministers were cheered as they came out. Nothing transpired regarding the action taken, though the general impression spread that a vigorous line had been adopted. The fact that a similar visit, immediately followed the previous council leads some persons to attach significance to it, and to infer that Emperor William of Germany is taking an active part in Transvaal affairs. The official ferman press, however, has been so outspoken in telling President Kruger that he need not expect German aid, that it is scarcely possible to attach credence to that inference. It is much more probable that the question of Delagoa Bay was discussed, if the dispatch printed today by the Plones of Allahabad, saving negotiations had been concluded by Great Bijitain for taking possesion of Delagoa Bay by November 1 is correct.

Many rumors are current regarding the result of the Cabinet Council, many professing to be based on reliable sources; but they are vague and contradictory. One news agency announces that immediate and decisive action has not been decided upon. Later in the day, various rumors were still current regarding the Cabinet meeting, but the following, which the Pail Mail Gazette publishes, is believed to be the fact: "Information in our possession is to the effect that was an interim Cabinet summoned to consider an interim dispatch. According to the Pall Mall Gazette the dispatch opens with an expression of regret at the unfavorable character of Secretary Reltz's latest reply, and continues with a very firm insistence upon the repudiation of the claim of the Transvaal to the status of a sovereign state, once more pointing out British readiness to settle at once the nature of the proposed arbitration tribunal, provided the other ing out British readiness to settle at once the nature of the proposed arbitration tribunal, provided the other British conditions are promptly and unreservedly accepted, and concluding with the intimation that the imperial government is now engaged in drawing up its own terms and that the Transvaal may expect to hear from them very shortly.

DEWEY LAND PARADE.

Roosevelt today, directing him to give the G.A.R. the choice of any place in the parade. Immediately on receiving the telegram, Gen. Roe had a conference with Mayor Van Wyck and then Chalman Guggenheimer, of the Plan and Scope Committee, which has charge of the parade, was notified of the Governor's dispatch.

After pointing out that his committee alone had the right to assign places in the line of march, Guggenheimer said of the Governor's action: "It is nost impudent, and unjustifiable, and an unwarranted interference in a matter that is without his province. I do not believe, however, that our committee will take any notice of it."

SAMPSON'S GLORY.

It May Be Overshadowed by Howison's Arrival.
[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.-A special to the Times from Washington says that a dispatch received at the Navy Department from Rear-Admiral Howison is worrying the officials there. Admiral Howison, entirely unconscious of the consternation his news will carry to those who have been as-serting that he will not get to New York until after the reception of Ad-miral Dewey, announces in this dispatch that he has left Barbadoes for New York. This is the last thing that the friends of Admiral Sampson wanted. Everything has been arranged to have Sampson, in his capacity as the hero and victor of Santiago, greet his brother hero of Manila. Admiral Schley will be in New York at that time, but in no official capacity. He will be there simply because as an American citizen he has an inalienable right to stand on the sidewalk and see Dewey go by.

Nothing had occurred to mar the spectacle of one hero greeting another and welcoming him home, until this disquieting news was received from Howison. Howison is Sampson's senior and if he gets there before the celebration he will outrank that officer and take command. The naval regulations require it. Howison is simply an old friend of Dewey, and would like to be on hand when his friend has his triumph.

ROOT'S INVESTIGATION.

He Believes Gen. Ot's is the Man for the Place.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, Sept 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A high official of the War Department made statements today calculated to remove any doubts in regard to the attitude of the administration toward Gen. Otis and the outlook for peace in the islands. Gen Otis, he declared, has the fullest confidence of the administration, and there is no thought of superseding him fr is no thought of superseding him in command of the Philippine army. The statement was made that when Secretary Root entered upon his office, he shared the opinion that had been expressed by some newspapers and individuals, to the effect that Gen. Otts was hardly the officer for the place, and that the Secretary believed a change would probably soon have to be made.

Secretary Root set to work inde-be made.

Secretary Root set to work independently to read all reports sent to the War Department by Gen. Otts, and he soon came to the conclusion that the general had a strong and inthat he had done the best that could be done under the circumstances. He believed it was largely due to the direct efforts of Gen. Otis, exerted with greatest prudence and tact, that the army was not reduced at one time last summer, to about 4200 men, a force so small that the American position before the insurgents in various parts of the Island of Luzon would have become threatening or worse.

small that the American position before the insurgents in various parts of the Island of Luzon would have become threatening or worse.

The Secretary appreciated the fact that Gen. Otis accomplished this by persuading the volunteer regiments to remain, contentedly in the service until the regular and other troops from the United States could be started to take their place. Secretary Root's conviction regarding Gen. Otis's permanent fitness for his position was further strengthened by confidential reports received from Gens. Schwan and Young, who had carefully studied the situation at first hand.

The official said further that the administration had the greatest confidence for the future. He said it was the belief of the President and Secretary of War, that a single battle with any considerable force of insurgents in a favorable situation would bring the rebellion to a close almost as promptly as it broke out. A great decisive blow, he said, would probably not be struck until all troops destined for the Philippines should reach the islands.

As soon as the winter campaign opens, fightling will be carried on along the different lines, and no mercy will be shown the insurgents, except such as is demanded by the rules of civilized warfare. Under this policy, heretofore untried in the Philippine campaign, the insurgent movement would be brought to such a close as would be brought to such a close as would be saitsfactory to the great majority of the American people.

SPAIN RESPONSIBLE.

Her if at All. NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that holders of Cuban bonds may as well make up their minds to pocket their losses if they depend upon the United States to pay the obligations out of the Cuban revenues. Repudiation by Spain of these bonds will probably cause the bondholders to turn to this country for redress, but it can be stated authoritatively that the admin-istration considers Spain alone respon-stated authoritatively that the administration considers Spain alone responsible.

As far as this country is concerned, the cuestion of the Cuban bonds was settled at Paris by the American commissioners, who emphatically refused to admit the claim set up by Spain that Cuba was responsible for the debt incurred for the "good administration" of that island. At that time the Spanish commissioners argued that "it would be contrary to the most elementary notions of justice and inconsistent with the dictates of the universial conscience of mankind for a sovereign to lose all its rights over a territory and the inhabitants thereof and despite this, to continue bound by the obligation she had contracted exclusively for their regime and government." They further declared that the Spanish-American republics without exception after Spain had relinquished sovereignty over them recognized and assumed as their own debts which had been contracted by the Spanish government.

The American commissioners flatly refused to entertain the proposition that provision be made in the treaty for Cuba to assume the debt incurred by the mother country for the purpose of waging war against the inhabitants of the island. In an extensive review of the Spanish bond issues it was shown that bonds aggregating $331,000,000 were issued and attributed to the of waging war against the inhabitants of the island. In an extensive review of the Spanish bond issues it was shown that bonds aggregating $331,000,000 were issued and attributed to the "Cuban debt." The American commissioners then repudiated responsibility for the payment of the debt in these words:

"From no point of view can the debt described be considered as the local debts of Cuba, or as debts incurred for the benefit of Cuba. In no sense are they obligations properly chargeable to that island. They are debts created by the government of Spain for its own purposes, and through its own agents, in whose creation Cuba had no voice. From the moral point of view the proposal to impose them upon Cuba is equally untenable. If, as is sometimes asserted, the struggles for Cuban independence have been carried on and supported by a minority of the people of the island, to impose upon the inhabitants as a whole the cost of suppressing the insurrections would be to punish the many for the deeds of the few. If, on the other hand, these struggles have, as the American commissioners maintain, represented the struggles have, as the American struggles have, as the American commissioners maintain, represented the hopes and aspirations of the body of the Cuban people, to crush the inhabitants by a burden created by Spain in the effort to oppose their independence would be even more unjust.

"The suggestion that their government should assume, either for itself or for Cuba or Porto Rico, the burden of the charges and obligations now in question, was not put forward during the negotiations that resulted in the conclusion of that convention, nor lift have been for a moment entertained by the United States."

GREENPORT (N. Y.,) Sept. 22.—The [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
GREENPORT (N. Y.,) Sept. 22.—The submarine torpedo boat Holland made a remarkably good showing during the practice run today in Little Peconic Bay. The new diving apparatus for operating the steering engines worked successfully, the boat getting under water and completely out of sight in quick time. The trial was in sending the boat over a mile course, submerged, at the end of which it came to the surface and the torpedo was discharged from the tube.

The run under the water was made in about ten minutes, and the torpedo was successfully discharged from the tube, but owing to what is thought to have been a disarrangement of some of the mechanism, the torpedo, instead of taking a straight course, took a downward turn, and the volume of muddy water sent up showed that it struck the bottom about fifty feet from the bow of the boat.

W. R. Eckert, consulting engineer for the Standard Electric Company of California, and also for the Union Iron Works of San Francisco, inspected the vessel and examined the machinery while she was running under water. He said: "I am very much pleased with the exhibition, and am convinced there is no trouble for the boat to do all that is claimed for it. I would rather be in the Holland boat, when under the water, than in the engine or fireroom of any of the fast torpedo boats. I consider her absolutely safe."

The decree of the government fixing October 6 to 8 for the primary elections and providing for the meeting of tions and providing for the meeting of the electoral college during the last week of October, although a revolutionary act and against the Constitution, has been well received. The government's action was ratified by a popular demonstration, the crowds crying "Down with the Constitution."

There was apparently no opposition to the decree. Officers will be elected for therfull term, four years. Jiminez is the only candidate for the Presidency of the republic.

Ex-Senator White has been in failing health for a long time past, and has been subject to recurrent attacks of weakness, which have heretofore been overcome by a little careful nursing and plenty of rest. Three days ago he had an attack which was thought at the time to be nothing out of the ordinary and which, it was supposed, would prove as easy of treatment as had the others. He was taken to his room and put to bed, and his physician was at once summoned. But his condition, instead of improving, grew steadily worse, and he now lies in a state which, to say the least, is exceedingly precarious.

Crumbles When No Guarantee of Law or Right Longer

Refers to the Ex-Prisoner as a Martyr and Says That France's Honor Will Be Restored With the Captain's.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] NEW YORK, Sept. 22 .- The Journal and Advertiser prints a dispatch from Paris giving the full text of Emile Zola's letter to Mme. Dreyfus, as fol-

"Dear Madame-Your husband and those who defended him have been exposed to the vilest insults and ever to bodily injury. For my part there are organs belong to the 'gutter press and men so tainted with moral dirt. from my memory. For me they are no more. I have driven them completely from my thoughts as if I had never already swallowed them. "It is such forgetfulness of atrocious insults that I recommend to the inwrongs. He is so much apart, so far above them all, that they should not be able to reach him. May he come to life again under your care, and un-der the clear sunshine of universal sympathy shown for him.

"Peace be to the martyr who has such need of repose, and around him, in retreat, may there be nothing but love and caresses. As for us, madame we shall continue to fight. We shall justice just as sternly as we pursued it yesterday. We shall exact re-habilitation of the innocent man less justice just as sternly as we pursued it yesterday. We shall exact rehabilitation of the innocent man less for the sake of him, who has already so much glory than for France, which would assuredly be killed by this excess of infamy.

"Our task will be the regeneration of France in the eyes of the universe, which will take place when the infamous judgment has been quashed. A great country cannot live without justice, and ours will remain in mourning just as long as the stain of insult is leveled at the highest jurisdiction and the violation of the most primitive rights shall remain.

"The social fabric crumbles when the guarantee of law no longer exists, and there is in this violation of right, such an element of insolence and bravado, so impudent that we cannot ignore it. We cannot bury a body secretly without showing our shame to our neighbors. The whole world has seen and heard, and it is before the whole world that reparation should take place. To desire a France without honor is criminal.

"Without doubt foreigners will come to our exhibition. They will overflow Paris, just as numbers are attracted to a fair by the sound of music and flare of lamps; but should that satisfy our pride, should we not value esteem as highly as the money of the outside world? We shall exhibit our science, our art and our industry.

"Should we dare to exhibit our justice, one can imagine Devi's Island reconstructed and exhibited. For me the shame of it is intolerable. I don't think the exhibition can be opened unless France takes her rank again among the nations. When honor has been restored formally to the condemned man, honor will be restored to France—not before.

"Allow me to say in conclusion, madame, that you may depend on those who have restored to your husband his freedom, to restore to him his honor. Not one of us will give up the fight. We know well that we fight for justice and for our country. The splendid brother of the condemned man will again set the example of courage, wisdom and justice. We have not been able all

"But in these last few weeks, when his innocence was palpable to all, I could have wished that you had taken your two children by the hand and conducted them to the prison in Rennes, that they might have had forever in their minds the picture of their father's heroism. You could have told them all that he had unjustly suffered, what moral grandeur was his, with what tenderness they should love him, in order to make him forget iniquitous men with their little souls.

"They would have been benefited by this demonstration of manly virtue. It is now too late. Some evening, under the lamp, and in the peace of family, their father can take them up on his knees and tell them the tragic history. It is necessary that they should know, in order that they may respect and adore him as he deserves. When he has spoken they will know that there is not in the world a greater hero-martyr whose suffering has so innfoundly touched men's hearts. They will be proud of him, and will hear his name with glory as the name of a very hrave man, who has borne himself sublimely under the most friehtful sufferings which fraud and cowardice could inflict.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 .- [Exclusive Distch.1 Ed Corrigan will leave for California tomorrow night, taking with him every horse in his possession. He will ship his horses to the Coast on a Special train made up of four cars.

Corrigan's advent on the Coast is certain to be the signal for a bitter turf war. There is a possibility that the conflict between Tanfaron Park and Ingleside on the one hand and the Oakand track on the other may be the wedge that will split the Western Turf Congress in two.

It is asserted here that a secret com-pact between John Condon of the Harm Jockey Club of Chicago, Bush of New Orleans, and Williams of the Oakland track is in force, and that it is the intention of the three to combine trainst Corrigan and the Turf Congress. Corrigan admits that he is not now the power in the Turf Congress he nce was, but he has also asserted that nless he gets what he wan's in the ay of dates on the Coast, he will fight be Oakland combination to a finish. Corrigan still controls several of the members of the Turf Congress, and he will rely upon them to help him out. Williams has made a secret alliance with the combination that smashed Corrigan's plans here, and should both persist in demanding assistance, the disruption of the congress is almost sure to follow.

AN ADMIRAL'S STARS.

THEY MEAN THE HIGHEST RE-WARD OF A LIFE OF SERVICE.

The Flag First Used by Farragut. The Navy Department Has Given to Admiral Dewey the Flag Se Dear to Farragut-Sketch of the Emblems of Rank in the Navy.

[Boston Herald:] The admiral's flag, the symbol of the commander-in-chie of the navy, has been revived for Admiral Dewey; and it should be of inter-est to us to know something about its beginning and its evolution in the service of our country...

It has been generally believed that Farargut was the first officer in the United States navy to win the official title of admiral, but such is not the fact. The rank was ninety-one years older in the record of the service.

On the 22d of December, 1775, the Continental Congress commissioned Esek Hopkins, an old and experienced commander-in-chief of the navy, and George Washington officially addressed him as Admiral Hopkins. In the following year, Admiral Hopkins put to sea from Philadelphia with his squadron of four ships and three sloop and the Alfred—the flagship—carried and the Alfred—the flagship—ca Hopkins's flag, a square yellow affair, bearing a pine tree, a rattle-snake in the act of striking, and the motto "Don't Tread On Me. flag was sent aloft by Lieut. John Paul

This insignia of flag rank was really more akin to some of the State or Col-onial flags than to any previous sym-bol of naval dignity, and was merely a personal flags of Hopkins's for the righteousness of his cause—the pine tree appeal to heaven-and the deterattitude he intended to main righteousness of his cause—the pine tree appeal to heaven—and the determined attitude he intended to maintain toward his land's oppressors. Just how long his flag remained in the service is questionable; but as no one succeeded Hopkins in the solitary dignity of commander-in-chief, it is highly probable that the flag went with him when he left the navy in 1777.

The Union Jack or the British ensign had long before become the recognized insignia or rank in the King's navy—being carried at the main, the fore, or the mizzen mast, according as the squadron commander were an admiral, and with the statutory adoption of a national ensign on our part on the 41th of June, 1777, we had something other than personal choosing upon which to base our own markings of naval seniority. That resolution declared. "That the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue fleld, representin a new constellation." That act at once gave us a blue flag with thirteen stars to be carried by our itag officers; but the Democratic spirit of the Americans was too strong for a repetition of so aristocratic sounding a title as admiral. The ranking officers of the service were captains, and agreeably to continental practice, the senior captains present could carry only a single triangular pennant. Custom is a pretty strong thing, even though set by your enemy, and in the shape of our flag we followed the example our British forbears set, while we gave our captains commanding squadrons the temporary title of 'Commodore.' Up at their main trucks these 'commodores' hoisted their blue triangular flags—not rightly the commodore's swallow-tail of European navices—with their single big white star encircled by a ring of tweive smaller ones.

one States in the Union, the old formation of a single large star surrounded by its circle of smaller ones made it difficult to keep the flag within reasonable limits and still preserve the circlet of fair-sized stars, and, consequently, in '37, when the Union had doubled its original strength, the stars were rearranged. In 1844, however, though there were still but twenty-six States in the Union, we find the broad pennant or swallow-tail of a commodore. That was significant that the "commodore," even though the rank were only a brevet, intended to assume all of the privileges that he knew he ought to have even while Congress had falled to make his title a legal one.

knew he ought to have even while Congress had failed to make his title a legal one.

In 1857 the title of "flag officer" was legally introduced in our service, Congress directing that "captains in command of squadrons" should be styled "flag officers." Still, the fleeting honor of the title and the right but temporarily to the flag was as much a cause of annoyance as it was in 1812. We all know of the glorious work of Porter in the Essex, how he created a fleet out of his squadron of prizes, and how his subordinates called him commodore and recognized his well-won right to the broad pennant; yet, to use the language of the time. Secretary Thompson's order "unshipped his stars, and degraded his title" when Porter came ashore.

The lack of harmony among the flags carried by flag officers led Secretary Tsaac Toucey in '88 to prescribe: "It is hereby ordered that in lieu of the broad pennant now worn by 'flag officers' in command of squadrons they shall wear a plain blue flag of dimensions proportionate to the different classes of vessels prescribed for the lack. Flag officers whose date of command as captain is over twenty years shall wear it at the fore; all others at the mizzen."

In effect, although not otherwise, this order Introduced the grades or flags of the vice and the rear admiral. while the officers themselves remained merely captains and their flags were mistakenly saluted by foreigners as those of vice and of rear admirals, instead of vice and of rear admirals, instead of the following order: "When officers entitled to wear the flags meet, or are in the presence of each other, the senior shall wear the plain blue flag prescribed by general order; the next in rank, a plain red one of similar dimensions; and the next in rank, a plain white one; each resuming the plain blue flag when they separate."

All this while we had commodores in name and by departmental regulation, name and by departmental regulation name and by departmental regulation, but no such rank existed legally prior to the act of 1862, which also provides for nine rear admirals to be selected because of their professional skill and gallantry. That act prescribed "That the three senior rear admirals shall wear a square flag at the main masthead, the next three at the foretopmasthead, and all others at the mizern" head, the next three at the foretopmasthead, and all others at the mizzen."

Farragut, by virtue of this law, was commissioned senior rear-admiral, and hoisted the plain square blue flag at the main of the Hartford; and it is memorable that this was the first occasion on which an admiral's flag was legally hoisted at the main.

The arbitrariness, however, of hoisting a read-admiral's flag at the main, instead of the mizzen, where the custom of other naval powers had placed it long years before, soon became apparent, and, at the instance of Richard H. Dana, then in Congress, the carriage of the flag was made uniform and agreeable to custom, without regard to the admiral's seniority. As a result, Farragut lowered his flag from the main and raised it at the mizzen, where a rear-admiral's flag should fly.
On his promotion to vice-admiral in 1864, he shifted his flag to the fore, and in 1886, when created a full admiral, again hoisted the same plain blue flag at the main truck.

In '66 a distinctive flag-apart from its position on the ship-was ordered for him, and then, for the first time, appeared the "four white stars in the center, forming a diamond." The viceadmiral had three stars, the rear-admiral two, while the commodore's broad pennant bore one—the erstwhile central big one of the days gone by when he had a whole constellation.

Admiral Farragut first hoisted this new flag on the frigate Franklin, in June of 1867, and it was saluted with

All went well until 1869, when the Union Jack, hoisted at the main was declared the flag of the Secretary of the Navy, and, having 'taken the union out of the ensign, in a spirit of apparent sentimental economy, it was further ordered that the remaining stripes of Old Glory should do duty as symbols of flag rank. Accordingly, the admiral's flag became a rectilinear affair of thirteen plain, horizontal symbols of flag rank. Accordingly, the admiral's flag-became a rectilinear affair of thirteen plain, horizontal stripes, alternate red and while, worn at the main. The vice-admiral gloried in the same flag carried at the fore, while the rear-admiral gloried in the same thing at the mizzen.

Farragut bitterly opposed the change, and, in fact, never consented to it. All of his associations were wrapped up in what his four-starred flag represented as the culmination, and when he died, the following year, it was his old flag that was tenderly laid upon his bier in response to his own request that his flag be buried with him.

In '76, 'for various reasons, involving past usages and services, and for the convenience of distinguishing the relative rank of officers of the same grade," the striped flag making it impossible to establish seniority by the old custom of the red or the white flag, the Secretary restored the blue, four-starred flag of the admiral, and so it continued till the death of the inheritor of Farragut's official-dignity.

The department has given Admiral and so it continued till the death of the inheritor of Farragut's official-dignity.

The department has given Admiral Dewey the flag so dear to Farragut, his master in the art of war, and very proud he is of it, for what it means, first by association and then for what it evinces as a token of his nation's gratitude for work so nobly done.

To the layman, it may be hard to understand the pride and feeling of the flag officer toward his bit of bunting; but it is something toward which he has striven through all the years of his varying career, in all its storm and sunshine, and once he has broken it to the breeze aftoat in the fullmest of supreme command, it typifies the fulfillment of his fondest hopes and the bounty of his fondest hopes and the bounty of that grace which has let him live through all the perils of his calling till the day of his exaltation. He dreamed of it as a small boy—a cadet, and he has realized it as a gray-haired man—the admiral after nearly half a century of faithful service.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—A dispatch to the Journal from Wichita, Kan., says that ex-Congressman Jerry Simpson was hooted off the platform there this evening, while addressing a local G.A.R. reunion. Simpson said:

"I glory in the spunk of Aguinaldo's men. They are simply fighting to re-They are simply fighting to regain the land the Catholics took from them. A local paper has asked 'Who is John Brown's soul marching with—Otis or Aguinaldo?' I believe John Brown's soul is marching with Agui-John Simpson said in substance that he would rather be with Aguinaldo than with Gen. Otis. An old soldier in the audience arose and said that the speech was drifting too much into This was applauded, greeted with cries of "Throw him out!" and "Kick Simpson off the platform!" Men and women arose and hissed Simpson, and the men kept .crying "Put him out!"

Simpson appealed to the crowd to sit down.

"I am coming to my peroration," he said, although he had been speaking only fifteen minutes. Cries came "Take your peroration to Aguinaldo!" Simpson attempted to go on, but no one could hear him ten feet away. The band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner," and Simpson left the platform. His retirement was greeted with prolonged cheers.

PROSPERITY AND TRUSTS:

Foraker Thinks They are Better Than Free Trade and Want.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HAMILTON (O.,) Sept. 22.—Senator J. B. Foraker today delivered an ad-dress here at the emancipation cele-bration on the Butler county fair grounds. He said in part:

"We hear it said that the tariff is the mother of trusts and that they are the cause of all sorts of evils. We do have trusts, and some of them are as bad as they are represented, but as and as they are represented, but they are not the product of the tariff and if they were, the tariff, with its attendant prosperity and trusts, is better than free trade and idleness, ruin, want, hunger, souphouses and better than free trade and idleness, ruin, want, hunger, souphouses and rags.

"That the tariff is not responsible for trusts is shown by the fact that while they have free trade in England, yet they also have more trusts in that country tharf in any other. They had their origin there and there they have had their most complete development. "But we should distinguish. Not all combinations of capital and business are trusts; not all of them have illegitimate purposes, and not all are attended with disadvantageous consequences. On the contrary, the great majority of business combinations are legitimate and beneficial.

"These consolidations mean loss of positions and loss of employment to set classes and some individuals. So did the introduction of the sewing machine and other labor-saving devices that have been invented; but the fact remains that but for these consolidations, thousands would lose occupations who are now employed in producing the surplus manfurfactures for which we find markets outside our own country. But for the advantages we acquire by these consolidations of capital and industry, we could not be supplying, as we are today, locomotives quire by these consolidations of capital and industry, we could not be supplying, as we are today, locomotives to the railroads of England or building bridges in the Soudan for the British army, in successful competition with the bridge-builders of Great Britain. We could not be sending our myriads of products to South Africa, China, Japan and Australia.

"Five or six hundred millions of people in China are just now being intromyriads of products to South Africa, China, Japan and Australia.

"Five or six hundred millions of people in China are just now being introduced to our civilization. In the near future, they will make heavy demands on the rest of the world. Russia, France, Germany and England are striving for their share of this trade, and we owe it to the shops and farmers of this country to secure our fair share also. To neglect our opportunities would be stupid folly.

"Considerations of this character must not be overlooked when we consider the acquisition of the Philippines. The wisdom of that acquisition will be in due time demonstrated just as in any other case of annexation of territory. It is true these islands are far distant from us, but they are near by the great markets we must enter. It is true that we paid Spain $20,000,000 on account of them, when we might have taken them by force, but that was only to reimburse her for money actually expended for the improvement of harbors and construction of public buildings and other improvement swhich it would have been ungenerous, to, say the least, for us to have deprived her of in her hour of helpless humiliation.

"It is true that these islands are inhabited by a heterogeneous population, speaking many different languages, and possessing varying degrees of capacity and possibility for civilized government, and that all, good and bad, are, according to the terms of the treaty, to pass under our jurisdiction, but it is not true that by their mere annexation they are to become citizens of the United States, participating in our government and competing with our labor.

"On the contrary, it is expressly provided in the treaty that the civil and political status of the inhabitants shall our government and competing with our labor.

"On the contrary, it is expressly provided in the treaty that the civil and political status of the inhabitants shall be determined by Congress, and this provision of the treaty is as much this provision of the treaty is as much the supreme law of the United States as though it were set forth in the Constitution itself, for by the Constitution itself, for by the Constitution it is expressly provided that, not the Constitution alone shall be the supreme law of the land, but that the Constitution and the law enacted in pursuance of the Constitution and all treaties, made or to be made, not under the constitution but under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land.

"An unhappy war is now in progress, It is costing us many lives and many millions, but President McKinley has announced that he has no purpose in prosecuting it except only to restore order and prepare the way for the establishment in due time of such civil government as Congress may provide When Congress convenes all can be heard, and I have no doubt but that wise and just results will be reached. In the mean time, so long as the war continues, there can be but two sides to it, 'and only one is the American side. Where our flag and our soldlers

"When the end of the strife comes if it is not sooner, it will be made man If it is not sooner, it will be made included its that our purposes are altogether beneficent. We do not want to oppress beneficent. We do not want to oppress anybody, or deprive anybody of self-government who is capable of it. On the contrary, to the fullest extent consistent with the maintenance of law and order and the discharge of our international obligations and as rapidly as possible, the Tagalos and Vicolis, the Visayas, the Moros, the Begrites and all the peoples and tribes of that archipelago will be advanced in the enjoyment of freedom, liberty, independence and self-government under the protection of the American flag."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—A prom nent Republican member of the next House of Representatives today Informed a reporter of the Washington Post that it was the purpose of Gen. Henderson of Iowa, who will be the next Speaker, to submit the new finan-cial bill drafted by a special committee of Republicans, to a Republican caucus soon after the House is organized, and have it considered in caucus before referring to any committee.

By this plan it is hoped to avoid any wrangle over the proper reference of the bill to committee, and secure speedy action on it in the House.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—George D. Gear, an attorney of Honolulu, called at the State Department today, to preat the State Department today, to present a statement relative to the ill-treatment of coolie laborers in the Hawaiian Islands. He asserts that the Supreme Court of Hawaii, by its rulings, is sustaining a system of slavery of the worst kind in the islands, in violation of the Constitution of the United States, and he asks that the Attorney-General be requested to declare whether or not the Constitution does cover the islands.

Michigan Law for Razor. wielders Goes into Effect.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT. 1 CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—A special to the Times-Herald from Lansing, Mich., Times-Herald from Lansing. Mich., says the new law providing for the licensing of barbers in all towns in Michigan of over 10,000 inhabitants goes into effect today. The new commission has already been organized, and is ready to proceed to business. The law provides that all barbers now engaged in the business shall be entitled to license upon making application to the commission, and paying a fee of $1.

Hereafter, however, all persons who desire to engage in the business must pass a satisfactory examination before the State Commission as to their proficiency as to the use of the razor, as well as of disinfecting tools, so as to prevent disease from being spread.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.1 SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.-The steamer Mariposa brings the following ws from Apia, Samoa, dated Sep-claims for losses during the late disturbances by Britishers, amounting in all to about $85,000, left by the Moana.

"Ex-Vice King Tamasese has been married to a reputed daughter of Asi, one of Malietoa's right-hand men. The bride is really a daughter of Laulu (Asi's brother.)

"The news that Consul Maxse had been decorated and made a C.M.G., was received with satisfaction by the Britishers here and by almost all Americans. It was quite natural that Germany would also recognize Consul Rose's services, and the Germans are delighted that he should have also been decorated with the order of the Red Eagle.

"The United States collier Abarenda came in yesterday from Pago Pago Harbor with her coal on fire. The damage, which is only slight, will soon be overcome. The British man-of-war, Pylades, Capt. Tupper, arrived here August 31. The German Cormoran is also in the harbor with the Torch.

"W. Cooper, who has just returned from a visit to Mataafa, reports that the latter has almost recovered from his recent illness.

"A local firm has received from a London house notes for 20 shillings and other denominations for collection here. The notes are drawn on the Bank of Samoa and are elaborately engraved with Samoan scenes. There is no such concern as the Bank of Samoa, and so the notes are fictitious. The ones received here are numbered as high as 1600, and it is surmised that at least this number of notes has been put into circulation. The notes are signed by a person who was here over a year ago, endeavoring to interest capital in a visionary coral scheme."

day while consulting a physician. Shortly after noon she left her home on Avenue 24, East Los Angeles, and went to the office of Dr. W. H. Palmer, No. 130 West Thirty-seventh street. She had never been there before, and had some difficulty in finding the place, coisequently she was considerably fatigued.

Mrs. Hamilton told Dr. Palmer that she had suffered for some time, her ailment becoming worse at intervals. She was explaining the nature of her symptoms, when she suddenly stopped and arose from her chair. She complained of pain in her chest and arms, but said it would soon pass off, as she had suffered the same way before. The pain apparently ceased, and Mrs. Hamilton sank down into a settee. She finished the sentence she had started, but the words were no sooner out of her mouth than she gave one or two gasps and expired.

Dr. Palmer did not at the time know the woman's name, but he knew some of her friends in East Los Angeles, and at once communicated with them. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of John R. Paul, No. 421 Downey avenue.

It is said that several brothers and sisters of Mrs. Hamilton is said to have remarked that she would be the next one to go.

To Abate a Nuisance. The Board of Public Works will re-port favorably on a recommendation of the City Engineer as to the best plan the City Engineer as to the best plan to abate a nuisance on San Fernando street caused by the habit of property-owners of turning water into a storm drain when they should be made to connect their premises with a sewer. The Engineer has reported that the drain empties into Zanja Madre, which is not large enough for both storm and irrigating water. The catch basin at College and San Fernando streets is to be abandoned and the drain continued to some point beyond the zanja.

ELKS IN COLLISION.

NEAR SANTA MONICA.

Two trains collided on the Southern Pacific near Santa Monica yesterday afternoon. Engineer Frank Caldwell had a leg broken and some of the were on the trains, were painfully bruised.

painfully bruised.

The accident occurred about threequarters of a mile eastward from the Santa Monica station. A special train of three coaches carrying the Eiks crashed into a switching train, which was backing away from it. The switching train had two box cars ahead of the locomotive and six miscellaneous freight cars back of its cellaneous freight cars back of it. By rare good luck the two box cars in front of the switch engine kept the locomotives apart, and, serving as a of cushion, very much reduced in front of the switch engine kept the locomotives apart, and, serving as a sort of cushion, very much reduced the shock.

It appears that the engineer of the special did not see the switching train till he was almost upon it. The special, which had left this city at about 2 p.m., was running at a high rate of speed. A curve not far eastward from the spot hid the switching train from view. As soon as Engineer Caldwell saw that a collision was inevitable, he set the air-brake lever at the emergency notch, turned the reverse lever as far as it would go, and jumped from the cab.

In the coaches the Elks were enjoying themselves with beer and badinage when the shock came, virtually without warning. The locomotive of the special struck the front car, breaking a great hole through the end of the car, and smashing the pilot from the engine. The locomotive was otherwise much damaged. Its machinery was twisted and broken, and the tank of the tender was loosened from its fastenings and thrust against the cab. The front coach came against the tender so forcibly as to crush the front platform.

Meantime the switch engine had telescoped the freight car in front of it, and the boiler of the engine had penetrated half the length of the car. The smokestack and many of the other fixtures were crushed and broken off. The roof of the car lay at a steep pitch over the boiler of the locomotive. The fiames were quenched with considerable difficulty, there being no water readily available.

When the crash came the Elks were thrown promiscuously. William Denery turned a complete back somersault. Guy Barham was sitting on the front seat of the front coach, and the crushing of the platform brought the tender of the locomotive. The flames were quenched with considerable difficulty, there being no water readily available.

When the crash came the Elks were thrown promiscuously. William Denery turned a complete back somersault. Guy Barham was sitting on the front seat of the front coach, and the crushing of the platform brought the tender from Chatsworth Park. The evidence showed that the victim was a former employé of Grant Bros. contractors, of this city, but had lately been working on a ranch near Chatsworth Park. While going to the railroad station with two wagon loads of hay, coupled together, the coupling between the wagons broke. In attempting to recouple them the front wagon slipped back, the man was pinched between the two vehicles, and sustained fatal injuries. He was taken to Chatsworth Park by a companion and placed aboard a train, with instructions that he be taken to a hospital in this city, but he died en route. The trainmen did not ascertain his name, nor the name of the man who placed him aboard. of the special had escaped by jumping.

Engineer Caldwell was picked up and carried to Santa Monica. It was found that he was much bruised, and that his left ankle was broken. Temporary medical treatment was given by Dr. Huff of Corona. The Elks walked to Santa Monica. The work of clearing away the wreck was pressed vigorously, and the track was free from obstruction within a few hours. The locomotive of the special was No. 1397 and that of the switch engine No. 1052. Engineer Charles Morgan and Fireman Fred Bassett were on the switch engine.

Fireman Fred Bassett were on the switch engine.

When the Elks poured out of the coaches to view the wreck, Chairman Vetter of the Reception Committee cheerily said to the San Diegans: "We cheerily said to the San Diegans: "We about six feet tall, had gray hair, brown eyes, and was dressed like a laborer. His features were those of an Irishman. The body is awaiting identification at Garrett & Co.'s cheerily said to the San Diegans: "We promised to entertain you with the best we have, and we are doing it. The railroad always stands in to give visitors a good time."

The San Diegans said: "This is pretty lively. Wonder what they'll give us next."

In the city news of the accident was on the street soon after it took place. But at the operating department of the railroad in the Arcade Depot at nearly 4 o'clock it was said that nothing was known excepting what was in the evening papers.

In a lecture before the Catholic Truth Society in San Francisco on Tuesday evening last, Rev. McKinnon, who was the chaplain to the First California, and witnessed what he related, gave a most interesting and instructive resume of his observations during the campaign in Luzon, detailing remarkable services and heroism on the part of the troops of the Eighth Army Corps, and in the following terse, effective and complimentary terms the reverend gentleman gave his opinion of Maj.-Gen. Elwell S. Otis: "My opinion of Maj.-Gen. Elwell S. Otis: "My opinion of Maj.-Gen. Elwell Otis? I believe him to have done his full duty, and I characterize all the accusations made against him as unfounded and unjust. He has been a wise, prudent leader, doing his best under new and unusual conditions, and with an army wholly inadequate to his needs."

nearly 4 o'clock it was said that nothing was known excepting what was in the evening papers.

As soon as rumors of the wreck were control set in the city the operating department sent a message by wire to Santa Monica asking for details of the collision. As late as 8 o'clock it was reported no response had been received that a collision had taken place. It will probably require further investigation to determine where lies the vestigation t when seen after the accident, was not in condition to talk of his part in the matter. Caldwell lives at 1201 North Main street.

The theory of the railroad is that a yard engine is to look out for her own movements and see that the track is clear before she moves in either direction. This is all simple enough in the case of regular trains whose hours of arrival and departure are well known. But in the case of a special, the question of responsibility turns to a considerable extent upon whether or not those in charge of the switch engine know of a special being due at or near the time of the accident.

The general superintendent was not in the city, and his assistant refused point blank to say anything about the matter. He declined even to say whether or not the switch engineer had been warned that the special was on the way down. The yardmaster at Santa Monica had no notice that a special had left Los Angeles.

The orders issued to the engineer for the special run to Santa Monica may have an important bearing on the question of responsibility. If the orders were so worded that the engineer might understand from them that he had right-of-way and a clear track, it would give the case a somewhat different appearance. If the officials at the Arcade Depot, however, don't know what the orders were it is probably hopeless to attempt to find out elsewhere.

and the Push Element in the Selection of Members of the County, Board of Education.

Luther G. Brown, the chairman of the County Board of Education, stated ast Thursday that the board would continue the investigation of examination papers until through, regardless of criticism, and then report to the proper authorities, and that "the rest could go to hell." But he did not state whom he considered the proper authorities. "The rest" means the pub affairs. Brown obtained his present position on the board, it may be possible that he thinks Johnny Vaughn and other mem-bers of the original Hervey Lindley political push are the "proper authori-ties." At least that is the source from which Mr. Brown is accredited with having drawn the political influence that helped him into a seat on the that helped him into a seat on the school board.

After the close of the last campaign, when the time arrived for the appointment of two members of the County Board of Education, it became necessary to form a combination among the County Supervisors in order to control these appointments. This combination was apparently made by bringing Supervisors Field, Langdon and Wirsching together. Just what part the pushelement, with which Mr. Brown is affiliated, played in the arrangement would be difficult to say, but it is certain that their whole influence was brought to bear on the matter.

Supervisor Field is said to have been indebted to Brown for work he did with the ward-heelers during the campaign, and Supervisor Wirsching in turn is said to have been under obligation to Field. Longden, the third member necessary to the combination was gasily drawn in on a reciprocity basis, since he was urging the claim of his relative, W. H. Wright, for the other vacant seat on the Board of Education. With three out of five Supervisors in the combination, the election of Brown and Wright was an easy matter.

When the County School Board was school board.

When the County School Board was when the constraint of the appointment of Messrs. Brown and Wright, Mr. Brown immediately set about to gain control of the organization. There are four immediately set about to gain control of the organization. There are four members of the board, the other two being Dr. Pallette and J. J. Morgan, Dr. Pallette's term expires next year, and he expects to be a candidate for reappointment. Mr. Brown, knowing this fact, did not attempt to conceal the influence he had with the Supervisors who will control the appointment of Dr. Pallette's successor, and Dr. Pallette promptly acknowledged his appreciation of the situation by throwing his influence with Brown and Wright whenever matters came up on which the opinion of the board was divided.
In this way a "solid three" was formed which, as Mr. Brown says, will continue its course regardless of criticism, and when through will report to the "proper authorities."

An interesting side light is thrown which, as it. Brown says, will comtinue its course regardless of criticism, and when through will report to the

"proper authorities."

An interesting side light is thrown upon Mr. Brown's political affiliations through an incident which occurred a short time ago, when the push element attempted to gain control of certain appointments within the province of theCity Board of Education. The same crowd who assisted Brown also worked for William H. Stearns, who was elected a member of the city board from the Eighth Ward. Stearns is a young medleal student, and shortly after his election, being desirous of obtaining an appointment to the County Hospital as intern, he is said to have made a deal with Supervisor Field by which he was to receive that appointment in return for placing certain of the latter's friends in positions in the school department. Mr. Field carried out his part of the agreement, but Stearns was never able to fulfill his end of the contract on account of the opposition he met from other members of the board.
One of Stearns's first acts was to attempt to displace Mrs. Smith, the principal of the Amelia-street school, whose place he desired to fill by a teacher who was supported by the Field element. His charges against Mrs. Smith were so flimsy that the clumsy scheme was readily seen through by the board, and the attempt to turn the Eighth Ward school district into a political machine was stamped out.

Stearns had a notion that he would be permitted to name all of the employés of the school department in his ward, and he promised janitorships to many of the Eighth Ward statesmen, but he was made to understand that the Webb system of running the schools had been abolished, and his heelers had to go without jobs.

The election of Stearns, the appointment of Brown and the onslaught upon the county teachers, are all moves in a scheme to make the school system part of a political machine to be controlled by the débris of the old Lindley gang. The appointment of Brown was opposed

and the parents of children who attend the public schools can all "go to hell."

BURBANK. The Fatal Card. ORPHEUM. Vaudeville. IRRIGATION INFORMATION.

The extensive development of water from wells in Southern California, and the problems encountered in the course of that development, bring many inquiries to The Times. One correspondent in Orange county, after comnenting us on the enterprise displayed in acquiring and publishing facts regarding irrigation, asks for data in regard to the failures as well as the successes in irrigation. This correspondent wants to know the probable cost per foot for a 10-inch well, from 500 to 1000 feet deep; whether anyone has failed to get as much as ten nches of water at a depth of 600 feet, and whether there are any geological ndications that are favorable to the location of wells, adding that some people have sunk to a depth of 200 feet in the foothill section of Orange county, near Santa Ana, without finding water. These questions are so general that nothing can be said in reply which rould not be so general as to be misleading. It is not possible to give practical information of any value on uch a subject in a short space, or to give information that will apply to all sections. The failures of wells are numerous. There are few that do not reach some water, if they go deep nough, but too many of those that are bored haphazard, without proper indications, are of no value for irrigation on any extended scale, though good enough for domestic use, and for water ing a few head of stock. The cost of a 10-inch well, from 500 to 1000 feet deep, will vary much with the formation that it is impossible to average its cost in Some well-borers, who unerstand their business perfectly, may take chances on it in some formations, while others may set their figures high nough to cover all contingencies, but, as a rule, the wells will cost several lollars a foot, if very deep, and if not very deep, they may not strike water mough to justify the cost of a shallow

The advisability of locating a deep well depends almost entirely on geologial formations, and especially on incications somewhere near of water under pressure. These formations, while of the same general character, vary so that no hard and fast rule can be laid down. Each case must depend on its own conditions, with considerable risk of failing to get enough water nder pressure to justify expense, unless pressure is clearly indicated somewhere near by.

Whether water ofitably for irrigation depends, like the wells, on so many things that no general answer can be given. There are places where it can be so pumped, even for alfalfa. There are many more where it cannot be even for oranges. In all, it will depend greatly upon the usiness canacity of the owner of the land and pump, as well as on the cost of plant and fuel. There are many places where it will pay to pump in an emergency, like that of this year, where it would not pay to do it continuously. Continuous pumping is also certain to exhaust some of the underground sources, which are connected with the supply by a thread so thin that it may take years for them to fill There is no reason to believe there is any underground lake or lakes ere of any size, or that the water es from the high part of the Sierra Nevada, the Rocky Mountains or any ing of the sort. The local watershed of our mountains is sufficient to ac unt for all that has been discovered in the past two years, great as it is. uch, for it is the accumulation of years, but they are none the less reserand when exhausted may take rears to fill. There is a vast difference between pumping to save an d orchard, or a valuable crop, in an casional short year, and planting out new orchard on the strength of some w water development. The danger of the country now lies in the latter irse. Too many think we have an exhaustible supply below ground, but If there are too many taps on it it is ly a question of time when the suply that might be of great value in a lry year will be used up before the

UNNECESSARY OBSTRUCTION OF

The Superintendent of Streets would le well to look a little more closely after the reconstruction work of the Los Angeles Railway Company, so far as that work has to do with the tearing up of the city streets. In several instances this work has been performed by the company in such a manner as to interfere unnecessarily with the use of the streets for the ordinary purposes of traffic. A case in point may be found on West Adams street, at the intersection of Hoover, where the com pany is relaying its tracks. Adams street is one of the main thoroughfares of the city, yet it has been entirely closed, at the point where it rosses Hoover, since about 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Ties and dirt are piled in the street in such manner that eams cannot get across, and areobliged to go half a block out of the way in order to reach the other side of the street. At the same corner, the company has placed a railway tie in the center of the drain designed to The leaders of the so-called Anti-Imperialist League of Boston have iscarry off the storm-water, in such a sued a statement as to the objects of way that débris is sure to lodge against the "national conference," which it is it and choke up the drain with the first heavy rain. ber 17. The principal object work necessitates the tearing up of the street; and of course none of the stormwater drains, sluices, or culverts should under any circumstances be obstructed or reduced in size. The Superintendent of Streets should get after these of-fenders with a sharp stick, and if ing the opposition to the President's necessary with something even more effective. The public have rights, and those rights must be respected. "It is true that in doing this the anti-imperialists must denounce Mr. McKinley individually, because he unlawfully initiated the slaughter in the Philippines by his declaration of war, December 21, 1898, at a time when the United States was solemnly bound by the protocol to preserve the status quo.

Gen. de Gallifet has addressed an order to the corps commanders of the French army, in which he declares that the Dreyfus "incident is closed." This is easily said, but the chance are as 100 to 1 that the incident will ie to plague France until complete justice shall be done to the prisoner of Devil's Island. Justice cannot be appeased by granting a pardon to the innocent, and the French army cannot remain secure under command of liars, slanderers and traitors. Zola sounds the keynote in his letter Mme. After having served their country nearly eighteen months, the greater part of this time in a strange land, and a tropical climate, facing the dangers of warfare with bushwhacking rebels, and enduring the hardships and privaions that are necessarily part of a soldier's life, the ex-members of Bat-tery D, California Heavy Artillery, will arrive home in this city today at 12:30 o'clock. The citizens of Los Angeles are ready to extend the welcome and reception for which they have so long

VISIT OF DIAZ.

The President Will Probably Invit Him to Washington.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—In connection with President's Diaz's visit to Chicago, it is expected that President McKinley will meet the Mexican President at Chicago and invite him to come to Washington as his guest and the guest of the nation. Tentative plans along these lines have been considered, and more definite arrangements will be made when the official announcement is received as to President Diaz's inten-received as to President-Diax's intentions.

Up to today the Mexican Ambassador has not received the official notification of the President's plans, but it is expected that it will be at hand within the next day or two. The Ambassador is now on his way here from Manchester-by-the-Sea, and on receipt of the notification he will proceed to Chicago to deliver it to the proper authorities there.

Diax's route is expected to be through San Antonio and St. Louis. At the latter point he may make a stop, as the Latin-Americans of the latter city have telegraphed to the Mexican embassy here requesting that he honor St. Louis with a visit.

In recognition of the presence of a foreign ruler within the country, it is probable that a representative of President McKinley will meet the Mexican President at the border and accompany him throughout his stay in this country. An army official of high rank is likely to be selected for this service.

No less than fourteen invitations from that many cities have been extended to President Diax to be their guest during his stay in the United States; but the understanding among officials is that he will not be able to accept many of these.

The case of E. A. A good programme was rendered at the meeting of the Association of Min-isters' Wives. Misses Whitehorn and Williams sang, and Mrs. Gov. Bever-idge and Mrs. W. A. Brown gave pen pictures of ministers' wives. The Pentecostal service led by Joseph Smith closed the afternoon meeting.

EVENING EXERCISES. The educational anniversary was celebrated in the evening. Rev. E. A. Healy acted as chairman, the adcelebrated in the evening. Rev. E. A. Healy acted as chairman, the addresses being delivered by W. C. Evans of Stockton and George W. White, president of the University of Southern California. Mr. Evans made an address on the work of the Methodists in education. He spoke of the hardships borne by the early men; the fruits of whose labors we are now enjoying. He said that education alone is insufficient, it is Christian education that is needed in these days. A plea was made for the maintenance of the colleges and universities of the church.

The speaker asked for more educated ministers, but added that grit, grace and gumption are necessary in addition to learning.

President G. W. White followed. He said in part: "I look with apprehension at the future. Are the men of today being trained sufficiently for the crises of the days to come. We are making great preparations for the coming centuries in the education of our young. Our people think too little of the importance of this greatest of questions. The ministry of today is not keeping pace with the growth of the people's knowledge. They are not sufficiently educated for the most important work in the world.

"Our schools and colleges are not sufficiently endowed, and supported by the people. Most of our Methodist colleges are dependent on the people's generosity for their maintenance, and the people. Most of our Methodist col-leges are dependent on the people's generosity for their maintenance, and this is sometimes very meager." The speaker then produced some pamphelts and read very interesting statistics in regard to the above. Continuing, he said.

and read very interesting statistics in regard to the above. Continuing, he said.

"We cannot expect our children to attend our poorly equipped Methodist colleges when they can receive better instruction in the State universities. They want to receive the very best that can be had, and do we not want them to have it? Let the church support its schools, and do its duty, and the church universities can hold the Methodist young people. We must surround our youth with good influences if we would have men to meet the needs of the future with courage and judgment, and it is the paramount duty of the church to provide these influences."

At the close of the president's speech Milton E. Phillips, formerly dean of the College of Liberal Arts, University of Southern California, was called upon by the old students. He responded in a few chosen words, heartily seconding the remarks of the preceding speakers.

for a series of flat houses or various classes, all of the buildings to be of a style never before attempted in New York. They will embody the best features of the French and American ideas in flats and tenements.

The efforts of the syndicate will be directed toward the erection of three different classes of houses. One will be for the wealthy class of tenants, a second for those of moderate mans and third for the poorer people. It has been decided to begin with the type for the wealthy class, and the syndicate has already secured an option on an entire block of ground between Madison and Fifth avenues in the neighborhood of One. Hundredth street, upon which—it was stated last night by J. Durham, the syndicate's representative in this country—a building costing in the neighborhood of 31,500,000 will be erected. It is said that ground will be broken within a few weeks.

The building is expected to be completed by the latter part of next spring. In the mean time options have been secured on several pleces.

Industrial Commission Testifies to Electric Workers' Conditions.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—R. W. Sherman of Rochester, N. Y., secretary of the Electrical Workers of America, was first witness before the Industrial Commission today. Most of the mem-bers are linemen. He said the dues of his organization were 60 cents per month. There was $100 death benefit. There had been thirteen strikes in the organization in eighteen months; of these the organization had won eleven, had compromised one, and one was still had compromised one, and one was still on.

The organization did not include more than 2 per cent. of the electrical workers. As a rule the workers had steady employment. There was much extra work for which extra pay was obtained. The average pay was about $3 per day. His organization believed in compulsory arbitration.

In the strike at Cleveland the union had offered to appeal the issue to the State Board of Arbitration, but the telephone company refused. Compulsory arbitration, in his opinion, should carry with it power of enforcing acceptance of the decree by both parties.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

There is such evident determination in the manner of the people of Redondo in their aim to compass public improve-ments that something good must soon result. Seldom do men of all parties, creeds and social conditions in any town unite on a public proposition, but that it is brought to pass. Enthusiastic people there talk of bonding the town for $60,000 in order that needed improvements may be made before next season. Redondo has all the elements of success as a pretty and convenient water-ing place, and when her people beautify and adorn the generous gifts of nature they may be sure of a compensating return in the shape of homeseekers and reasient visitors. Sanitary arrange-ments; good streets, good light, good order and general attractions for vis-itors will make Redondo equal to any resort on the south coast.

If the inimitable Dogberry of Shakespeare should ever be reincarnated, surely his place for reappearance ought surely his place for reappearance ought to be Los Alamos in Santa Barbara county. One Tognigini, a wealthy rancher there, trapped quall out of season for shipment, and was caught at it. Out of forty jurors drawn only the could serve, as they all declared the quall were a pest, doing great harm to the grain crops, and should be ex-terminated. They would not find a man guilty for trapping quall, and the Dogberry on the bench permitted a verdict of not guilty. Inasmuch as grain is all thrashed and sacked, and that there was no such idiotic complaint until the man was caught at it, it would the man was caught at it, it would seem that that town is an excellent field for the game warden and the foolkiller—the former to enforce the law, the latter to operate on the legal luminaries engaged in this case.

The San Pedro News, in its last issue, in display type, cries, with chronic and customary lunacy: "Let us wake up!" "Get in line!" and sev-eral other things of like meaning, and "roasts" both people and authorities because of the lax methods in vogue. It also incites the people to cleanliness about premises, etc. All this is very good, and San Pedro has "a salubrious winter climate," too, but, alas, she also has the cursed nickel-inthe-slot machine, and all the terrible drawbacks it represents and contains, The beauties of earth, air, sea or heavens pall upon the senses of good men and women when presented in an atmosphere of tin-horn gambling, bunco steering and moral prostitution generally. San Pedro should "wake up" and "get in line" on this over-shadowing evil before laying claims to being a summer resort or a port town worthy of the name.

According to the Ventura Independ-ent, they had a "harmless" bull fight at Oxnard on the 16th, the bull's horns being sawed off. They also had a grand battle with the "tiger," and his "teeth and claws were as keen and sharp as a razor." Passing comment on the bull fight—it was on Mexican andependence day—it is fair to say the independence day—it is fair to say the "tiger" won in the fray. Among the possibilities of beet culture and sugar making is the building up of a large town at Oxnard, and all that means for the increase of values; but if it is to be built upon a substructure of Mexican brutality and American licentiousness, beginning in wide-open gamble builting and according in dance balls. bling hells, and ending in dance halls filled with siren prostitutes, then these blessings which nature has so lavishly bestowed on that spot will be turned into something worse than the sum of the curses of Ebal. and failure and sorrow must be among the bitter future harvests.

TUNNEL-BORERS' FIGHT.

SCENE OF CONFLICT SHIFTED THE POLICE COURT.

Trial of Contractor Hill for Chas-tising Sub-Contractor Chaffey Commenced-Suit on Account of

The scene of the Third-street tunnel contractors' fight was shifted from the hole in the hill to Justice Lorgan's court yesterday. The trial or Contractor James A. Hill, on the charge of battering sub-Contractor Albert E. Chaffey, was begun yesterday morning. The greater part of the day was spent in securing a jury. Two venires of twenty-four men were called, and the trial finally proceeded with a bobtail jury of ten men.

Messrs. Peck & Foley appeared for the defendant and Deputy District Attorney Chambers, assisted by F. W. Allender, Esq., had charge of the prosecution. Mr. Chaffey told how Hill ordered him away from the work Tuesday morning, and, because he refused to go, choked him, bumped his head against the wall of the tunnel and afterward iknocked him down, then took him by the nape of the neck and forcibly ejected him from the tunnel. Chaffey denied that he went armed to the tunnel with the view of preventing Hill from putting men to work. He said, in accordance with notice from the City Engineer, he went to the tunnel to resume work on his contract, when Hill appeared with a gang of men and forcibly ejected him.

Two or three of Chaffey's employe's corroborated his testimony. They denied that he had a revolver or made any resistance to the assault of Hill. Attorney Peck, for the defense, consumed a great deal of time in the attempt to elicit testimony on cross-examination concerning the dispute between the contractors and tending-to show that Hill was obliged by force, if necessary, to take charge of the work in order to fulfil the contract which he and his partner. Swensen, had undertaken, and for the faithful performance of which they were under heavy bond. The court rejected all such evidence as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and tried to restrict the evidence solely to facts concerning the physical encounter between Hill and Chaffey.

At 5:30 o'clock an adjournment was taken till 9:30 o'clock this morning. The prosecution has several more witnesses to examine, and the case will probably n

Mr. Allender declared that he would today begin action against Contractors Hill and Swensen for claims on account of wages amounting to $1300 or $1400. His contention is that the contractors sub-let part of the work to Chaffey, at a rate at which they would lose money, and that upon discovering their error they sought to freeze Chaffey out by getting the city to withhold compensation for the work performed. Chaffey had thus been embarrassed in the carrying out of the sub-contract. and Hill and Swensenhad taken advantage of his embarrassent by attempting to proceed with the work themselves. The city will be made a party to the suit which Attorney Allender contemplates bringing against the contractors.

CLAYTON ARRAIGNED.

Rogers's Assailant Charged With

Atempt to Murder. J. J. Clayton, the assailant of Earl B. Rogers, Esq., and who held up two clerks in the attorney's office at the point of a revolver. on two separate charges of assault with intent to commit murder. Both complaints are sworn to by F. H. Thompson, Esq., who is chief clerk in Rogers's law office, and who was kept under cover of Clayton's revolver for one hour previous to the assault on Rogers. Clayton's preliminary examination in both cases was set for September 29 at 2 o'clock.

The prisoner betrayed considerable nervousness when brought before the bar of justice. His bloated face was repugnant and he had a furtive, hangdog look. Twenty-four hours' enforced abstention from drink was evidently telling on his nervous system and he appeared altogether miserable and ill at ease. The ceremony of arraignment was soon over and he looked relieved when led back to his cell. The simple prison fare does not appear to agree with Clayton's epicurean taste. He ordered a large beefsteak and half a doezn eggs for his breakfast yesterday, but the jail cuisine does not afford such luxuries and the prisoner has no money to his credit with which the jailor can buy delicacles for him. The $10 which Rogers gave Clayton, just prior to being assaulted, is being held as evidence in the cases pending against him, and cannot be expended for the prisoner's comfort.

The two complaints against Clayton by Thompson are solely on account of the gun play made by Clayton in the law office of Rogers when he terrorized the two clerks. The passault on Rogers in the Police Station afterwards is a separate affair and it is probable that Clayton will be prosecuted for battery on that account, as soon as Rogers recovers from his injuries. Actions for assault with a deadly weapon and carrying a concealed weapon may also be brought against the prisoner.

Mr. Rogers had a turn for the worse about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and he suffered much pain during the day. It will probably be several days before he will be able to resume his law practice.

The danger of repealing the ordinance ferbidding the boring of oil wells with-in 1600 feet of Westlake and Sunset parks by the adoption of an amendin which there was a general repealing clause, has been averted by the subwhich it is specifically provided that the prohibitive measure is in no wise to be changed or interfered with. This substitute has been approved by embers of the Fire and Water Com mittee of the Council, and it will be adopted Monday. Several of the members of the Council expressed themselves yesterday as being opposed to any further changes in the ordinance creating the 1600-foot limit. The case involving all the street-

Several weeks ago Oil Inspector Monlux called the attention of the Council to the fact that the oil district was being extended beyond the territory over which he has authority, and suggested that his district be enlarged so that the provisions of the general oil well ordinance could be applied to the new fields. The Council adopted his suggestion, and the preparation of the necessary ordinance was ordered. Its purpose was not in any way to interfere with the prohibited limit around Westlake and Sunset Parks, but was simply to give the inspector authority over all the wells in the city. To that end his district was to be extended westward to the city boundary, and Several weeks ago Oil Inspector Mon.

The committee therefore will present Monday an amendment to the general oil ordinance, the effect of which will be simply to extend the authority of the Oil Inspector. The members of the Council talked freely yesterday on the question of changing the 1600-foot limit, and not one of them expressed any desire for the change which is so much desired by the oil men.

"I don't understand this matter in the way that others seem to see it."

the change which is so much desired by the oil men.

"I don't understand this matter in the way that others seem to see it." said Councilman Pierce. "I have not expressed my opinion before for the reason that I did not know that there was any effort to have that limit changed. I would strongly oppose any such change. The last action of the Council with reference to that limit, in which they took off a large slice of it, ended it with me. I shall never vote for any measure which will make it possible for oil wells to be drilled any nearer the parks than at present."

Councilman Baker, when informed of the action of the Fire and Water Committee, said that it was just what he desired the committee to do, and that he would vote for the ordinance. "That last change in the 1600-foot limit was a compromise, and I consider the matter settled. I will not vote to change: it again, no matter who wants it changed. If that amendment as presented had been adopted, I am satisfied that there would have been no 1600-foot limit, for that second section would certainly have been taken advantage of by the oil men. They don't get any nearer the parks if my vote will prevent it."

Councilman Lauder did not see as much danger in the second section of the proposed amendment as first presented to the Council as others had feared. "The matter looks this way to amend an important manner. If the proposed amendment is not what is desired, or if it contains anything that leaves any doubt as to its effect, let us have that doubt removed before we pass it. It was with a view to removing all doubt that we secured the substitute. It will not do to fool with that 1600-foot-limit ordinance."

Councilman Todd simply stated that he was strongly opposed to doing anything which would make it possible for-oil-wells to be placed nearer the parks than they are at present. He declared he would vote for the substitute amendment.

Unless there is a decided change of sentiment in the City Council, and unless some of the members vote in a manner at variance with their present opinions, there will be no change whatopinions, there will be no change what is known as the 1600-foot limit of the parks, within which the drilling and operation of oil wells is prohibited. The surreptitious effort to have the entire limit eradicated has falled, for the Council, in adopting a new oil ordinance Monday, will vote for a measure which specifically provides that it shall not be considered to be in conflict with or in any manner interfere with the ordinance creating the 1600-foot limit. The presentation of such an ordinance, instead of the one which was desired by some of the oil producers because, it gave them a chance to enter upon the forbidden ground, was decided upon yesterday afternoon at decided upon yesterday afternoon yet decided yesterday afternoon yet decided yesterday afternoon yet decided said, was more than most persons could stand, and he declared that the conditions there were such as to be a serious menace to the public health. As all of the street openings then pending were being ordered under the Vrooman Act, this decision brought all of them to a sudden stop. The necessity for a final decision of the question involved was realized by all interested in the matter and the case was appealed to the Supreme Court. In the ordinary course of events this case might not have been heard by that court for a year or more, but such was its importance to the city that the Council sent the City Attorney and the attorney for the plaintiff to San Francisco to present the matter before Chief Justice Beatty, and to urge upon him the necessity for advancing the case upon the docket so that it could be heard at the fall term in this city. The attorneys were more successful than they hoped for, and the docket, just issued, shows that Chief Justice Beatty and his associates have done all that they could do for the city by assigning the case for the first day of the session here.

The contract for the improvement of Pico street between Pacific and West-ern avenues will have to be again submitted to bids by the City Council, if that body still desires to have the street improved. Owing to the failure of the contractor to whom the contract was awarded to furnish a satisfactory bond the time for the signary of the contract has expired and it cannot be contract has expired and it cannot be now signed. The work is one of the most important pieces of street improvement that has been let by the Council for some time, and the cost, with all expenses, will be something over $17,000. The Council awarded the contract to S. McCray on the 5th inst., but he waited until the last day before filing his bonds for the work. Two bonds were required, one for $8500, to protect material men and laborers, and another for $4250 to protect the city. The first bond was approved by the Mayor, but when the smaller bond was submitted to Street Superintendent Drain he found that the sureties were not sufficient, and he therefore refused to approve the bond. McCray had waited so long before proving up on his contract that when this refusal was announced there was no time for him to get other sureties had he been able to contract that when this refusal was announced there was no time for him to get other sureties had he been able to do so. The contract, therefore, will have to be again submitted to bids. One of the bondsmen has since informed Street Superintendent Drain that he is glad the action was taken, as he did not desire to go on the bond.

The result was that this portion of the report of the board was not written, but it will probably be completed today, and the matter will come up in the Council Monday. Proposed New Pipe Line. The members of the Zanja Commit-ee went to East Jefferson street yesterday afternoon for the purpose of investigating complaints as to charges made by the owner of a private pipe line there for the use of the line in irrigating. An offer was made to sell this line to the city some time ago, but it was not purchased. Since then the committee has been informed that high rates are being charged for the use of the pipe line. It is proposed to build a new line which will supply the irrigators there unless some satisfactory arrangement can be made for the proposed purchase.

The Zanja Committee will recommend to the Council that the petition for a change in the location of the zanja pipe at Twelfth and Central avenue be denied because there is no reason why the city should bear the expense of the work when it has long had a right-of-way for the pipe line. terday afternoon for the purpose of in-

[AT THE COURTHOUSE.] ADMINISTRATRIXOUSTED

LETTERS OF JUANA YBARRA DE

of Teofilo Salas to Hold His Menger Estate - Frank Salas's Charges Against the Ubarra

Everything done thus far in set-tling up the $250 estate of old Teofilo Salas must be done again. Judge Shaw Salas must be done again. Judge Shaw yesterday granted a motion to set aside the letters of administration granted to Juana Ybarra de Salas by Judge Campbell last June. The mo-tion was supported by an affidavit sworn to by Frank R. Salas, one of four heirs to the estate, who moved to strike the petition of the Ybarra woman from the files of the court for the reason that the court was imposed upon at the time the order was made appointing her administratrix in that she was not the widow of Teofilo Salas, but merely his mistress, and that she obtained her appoint-ment by means of fraud and rank perjury

In 1878 Salas married Juana Romero, who bore him four children. A num-ber of years thereafter they parted and the husband became infatuated with Juana Ybarra, with whom he lived until his death in December, 1898. He left a small estate consist-ing of two improved lots in South 1898. He left a small estate consisting of two improved lots in South Pasadena.

Through the assistance of A. A. Montano, Esq., who has recently gone to the Philippine Islands, Juana Ybarra de Salas was granted letters of administration and an order was made setting apart the South Pasadena lots to herself and her minor children. Montano, however, had difficulty in collecting for the legal service he had rendered the woman, and he began suit against her. In the course of proceedings an attachment was gotten out and served on the property of the egitate.

It was then that Frank Salas and the other heirs, who have continued to live on the property since their mother's death, first learned that their comfortable little South Pasadena home might be taken away from them. They immediately rushed into court with explanations. They averred that their mother in her lifetime had paid for the lots on the installment plan, with the exception of the last $15 or $20, which was paid by Salas, who, instead of taking the title of the lots in the name of himself as trustee for the benefit of his children, as he stated that he would do, took the title in his own individual name. The mother paid at least $170 on the lots. stated that he would do, took the title in his own individual name. The mother paid at least $170 on the lots. Judge Shaw now allows the legal heirs until October 2 to file a contest against the original petition of Juana Ybarra de Salas for letters, and instructs Frank Salas that he must serve such papers on her personally.

ward W. Forgy, receiver of Fixen & Co., against the Chapin-Tibbot Commercial Company and others, denying that any fraud or misrepresentation was used in urging Fixen & Co. to join in an enterprise to conduct a mammoth mercantile business in Los Angeles. Along with the answer was also filed a lengthy demurrer.

Defendants deny that, by the transfer of the stock of goods, fixtures and good, will of Fixen & Co. to the Chapin-Tibbot Commercial Company, any of the capital stock of Fixen & Co. was withdrawn, or that any of the defendants were parties to a division of the capital stock of Fixen & Co. among its stockholders, which rendered that firm irretrievably insolvent. As a matter of fact, it is alleged that Fixen & Co. were hopelessly insolvent long before May 24, 1899, when it is charged that defendants conspired together to cheat the company out of a stock of merchandise, valued at about $60,000, but that such fact was not known to them prior to July 27, 1899, when the Chapin-Tibbot Commercial Company had transferred all its interest in the stock of goods of Fixen & Co. to Sylvester Goodenow, and the latter had transferred the same to the Goodenow-Sheldon-Fixen & Co. to Goodenow-Sheldon-Fixen & Co. to the Co. stock was sold at cut prices, or slaughtered, after it had been purchased with $30,000 cash and $37,000 of capital stock in the Chapin-Tibbot Commercial Company. Worth 75 cents on the dollar; but, that the latter company proceeded to dispose of the merchandise, after adding largely to the stock, in the same for sale at a profit. Notwithstanding the fact that a considerable portion of the Fixen & Co. stock was the accumulation of fifteen years in the same business, it was all involced at the original cost price, aggregating the sum of $57,000.

The answer in the case also sets up a denial to the charge that the capital stock of the Commercial company. It is also strenuously denied that the Fixen & Co. stock was sold at cut prices, or slaughtered, after it had been purchased with $30,000 cash and $37,000 of capital stock in the Chapin-Tibbot Commercial Company, worth 75 cents on the dollar; but, that the latter company proceeded to dispose of the merchandise, after adding largely to the stock, in the usual course of business, offering the same for sale at a profit. Notwithstanding the fact that a considerable portion of the Fixen & Co. stock was the accumulation of fifteen years in the same business, it was all involced at the original cost price, aggregating the sum of $57,000.

The answer in the case also sets up a denial to the charge that the capital stock of the Chapin-Tibbot Commercial Company was worthless, by alleging that the company was regularly incorporated under the laws of Arizona and that the articles were acknowledged by all the parties to the incorporation by May 13.

The rest of the answer, which is voluminous to the extent of ninety-one typewritten pages, relates to denials and contradictions of the various charges and statements made on the part of plaintiff Forgy, receiver of Fixen & Co.

THE NEW STARCH COMUINE.
The Philadelphia Grocery World gives the following details of the newlyformed starch combine:

"One of the most important mercan-tile consolidations which has taken place for years was affected last week, place for years was affected last week, when the leading manufacturers of starch outside the National Starch Company combined under the name of the United Starch Company, with a capital of $6,000,000. The concerns which have combined are four in number, and are as follows: Duryea & Co. of New York, operating the Sloux City Starch Works at Sloux City, Iowa; T. P. Kingsford & Son of Oswego, N. Y., operating the Oswego Starch Company of Nebraska City, Neb.; and the American Glucose Company of Buffalo, operated by Gilbert S. Graves. These four concerns have a very large output. It is stated that if the United Starch Company operates all four of its factories at its full capacity, its output will be larger than the National's.

"The prime movers in the consolidation were Messrs. Duryea & Co. of New York, who formerly owned the Glen Coye (N. Y.) Starch Works.

The prime movers in the consolidation were Messrs. Duryea & Co. of New Yerk, who formerly owned the Glen Cove (N. Y.) Starch Works, which they sold out to the trust when that concern absorbed several factories some years ago. One of the terms under which Gen. Duryea sold his Glen Cove factory was that he should not use his own name in starch manufacturing for five years. As soon as this period expired. Gen. Duryea began to manufacture starch under the name of Duryea & Co.

"The officers of the United Starch Company are as follows: President, T. P. Kingsford of Oswego; first vice-president, Hiram Duryea of New York; second vice-president, Carl Morton of Nebraska City; secretary-treasurer, J. D. Higgins of Oswego. The directors are T. P. ERA OF SCARCITY. No man lives who has witnessed development get ahead of production to the extent it has the present year, says the American Manufacturer. It is doubtful if any of the present generation will again witness the phenomena. History records no such period for consumption and production. The scarcity applies to almost all metals and all trades are embarrassed. We note mammoth plants closing down or discharging thousands of men, not because they have not employment for them, but because every concern is crowded with orders and material cannot be supplied rapidly enough. This is not confined to the shipbuilding industry, but to all lines. Buildings are delayed, a halt is called on projected enterprises, railroads are short of cars, and carbuilders cannot finish orders because of the shortage. The electrical industry is suffering because of the shortage of copper. Aluminum has had to be called to the aid of telegraph and electric companies because of the shortage and telegraph and electric companies because copper wire cannot be had. Economists, political writers and theoretis a few years ago wrote essays during a dull period to the effect that the world was suffering from underconsumption, while others held that the world. Many believed that the monetary system was to blame, while politicians argued that free trade and curse of overproduction haunted the world. Many believed that the monetary system was to blame, while politicians argued that free trade and protection were each to blame, according to their party affiliations. There has been no change in the financial system, the traiff has not been tampered with production has increased out of all proportions with past progress, but consumption has outdistanced it. All this is brought about during a period of war and rumors of war. The United States was on the eve of a boom when the Spanish war was declared. The struggle in the Philippines has not retarded it any more than the previous conflict more than the previous England's threatened trouble did. England's threatened trouble with the Boer republic does not retard the rush of trade in the British Isles. The empire in all its parts was never so crowded with evidences of prosperity. From the Cape of Good Hope to Alexandria Bay, in Africa, the rush of commerce is evidenced. India's progress is marvelous. China and Japan and the whole Orient are bending their energies to keep step with the procession.

IASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade will say tomorrow that the reaction of the stock market is not has set many to look for signal and the stock market is not has set many to look for signal and the stock market is not has set many to look for signal and the stock market is not has set many to look for signal and the stock market is not has set many to look for signal and the stock market is not has set many to look for signal and the stock market is not has set many to look for signal and the stock market is not has been for months a wonder that the demand for products was sustained at rates the demand does not appear to abate, and the size in prices continues. A partial explanation is that scarcely any class of products discount in the stock market should be signal and in anticipated business done and in anticipated business done

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YUEK, Sept. 22.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that satisfactory trade and price conditions apparently still reign. So few in fact, are the reports of poor trade that favorable reports may be said to be almost unaismous. An expanded voil of bank clearings for the week, though reports from some markets point to the kreatest rush being made Prices, as a rule, maintain all their former strength, decreases being few and relatively unimportant. In several lines, notably cereals, cotton, petroleum, iron and steel, the tendency is favorable toward higher levels. Steady demand for export and confidence in all of the maintain all their former strength, decreases being few and relatively unimportant. In several lines, notably cereals, cotton, petroleum, iron and steel, the tendency is favorable toward higher levels. Steady demand for export and confidence in all of the maintain and the steel of the stee hands while the movement of the past fortnight has made bears of the professionals and resulted in the creation of a larger short interest than the market has possessed for some time. The activity of the bears was naturally a feature of the week, and to manipulation of this kind, some of the extreme declines may be ascribed. The covering of shorts on a large scale also murfluted in bragan Weduseday, and which assumed considerable force in Thursday's transactions. The public was by no means active except in reducing its marginal holdings of stocks and the market has been largely in the hands of professional operators.

Europe's part in the speculation here was negative, and while London is in suspense about the South African situation, no interest in American securities is possible. The favorable character of railroad earnings, the activity of time to cause a strong underlying buillish sentiment as to the future of the market. In fact, the street itself inclines to a belief that, should the condition of the money market improve, a renewal of the rising speculation would be very probable. Nor has the market been without positive buillish developments this week.
The rapid advance of Delaware, Lackawanna and Western stocks to 191 and the strength of the other anthractic coal properties seem to coal trade has undergone a material improvment, while in the case of Lackawanna there are rumors of some pending givelopments regarding its capital and dividends which would justify the advance. Nor are railroad deals lacking, the most important happening of that kind being the reported sale of large interests in the outhern Pacific to bankers identified with the property.

ARSENCE OF MILK INSPECTION IN

Cows Sick With Texas Fever is Sold—First Cargo of Lumber for the Cycleway—Belle Gohn's Res-taurant Attached.

PASADENA, Sept. 22.—[Regular Correspondence.] It was supposed that Los Angneles county had been protected with regard to its milk and cream supplies by the appointment of a deputy dairy inspector by the State Dairy Board; but there seems to be some doubt as to whether there is any inspector in the county or not. With the probability that the sale of milk from cows sick with Texas fever is cows sick with Texas fever is going on daily, the situation is inter-esting as well as complicated.

Dr. Ward B. Rowland of Pasadena was the man selected by the State Dairy Board for inspector of Los An-geles county. He supposed this county alone was to be his field of operations, geies county. He supposed this county alone was to be his field of operations, and there was set aside from the State fund for his use up to the 31st of next December, the sum of $300. The doctor supposed there were to be four other districts in Southern California, each with its inspector; but soon after receiving his commission, he was notified by the secretary of the State board that he would be expected to cover all of Southern California except the northern half of Santa Barbara county. He immediately wrote to the State board that he could not attend to such a big territory, and that his commission and papers were at their disposal. The secretary replied, urging the doctor to attend to the business, but the doctor is unwilling to do so, though he says that if any complaints are made, he will look into them for the sake of individuals, though he declines the role of philanthropist for the State government.

of philanthropist for the State government.

Although the people are intensely interested in the matter of having safeguards thrown around their milk supplies, and though there is a crying need of a general inspection of herds, most dairymen neglecting it, such are the terms of the law that it is practically inoperative. The law provides that an inspection shall be made by the inspector, only upon receipt of a written complaint signed by a reputable citizen. "A man is not going to make trouble for himself by signing a complaint against his neighbor's cows, though he knows they need inspection," says the doctor. "The law should be amended so that the name of the complainant need not be known. Then we should hear of the sick cows, or the dangerous milk."

Dr. Rowland believes that the sale of milk from cows afflicted with Texas fever is going on in this county, and that this milk by a circuitous route reaches Los Angeles. The cows may be quarantined without stopping the sale of the milk. The State Dairy Board could put an end to it, upon complaint, LUMBER FOR CYCLEWAY.

It was recognized that he really belonged to the orders whose insignia he wore and that he had merely asked brothers for help, as he was entitled to do. His attorney, Judge Rossiter, made the point that it was no more of an offense for him to negotiate a loan from a brother Odd Fellow than it would be for one of the jury to borrow money of the First National Bank—and the point took. The "jiner" came off with all his badges and buttons flying.

Another instance of money left in clothing and recovered after wanderings, has come up. A Pasadena tallor found $2.50 in the watchpocket of a pair of trousers brought to him for repairs. The owner of the trousers owed the tailor just about that sum, but the latter promptly restored the $2.50, not doubting that his grateful customer would offer to square his account. The owner, however, merely gemarked, "Well, I'm just so much fin!" The tailor would not have felt so remorseful over his honesty, though, if his debtor had not added with respect to the new bill for fixing the trousers, "Charge it!"

SANTA FNA. Sept. 22.—[Regular Correspondence.] The decision in the Supreme Court handed down yesterday relative to the Bathgate vs. Irvine Ranch Company water suit has created considerable comment in this city to-day, and has been the cause of great rejoicing among the ranchers in the vi-cinities of El Modena and Villa Park, where the people are most interested. The decision of the Superior Court to the effect that the defendant, the Ir-vine Ranch Company, could divert water from Santiago Creek for do-mestic and stock purposes has not been without some benefit to the people of Villa Park and El Modena. With the belief that their water rights were gone they set about to develop other water, and their efforts have not been entirely in vain. But their work on this line has just been begun. Developments are anxiously awaited by the public.

Smith, who conduct a grocery store at Florence. They trusted him to the extent of sending him to the city with a wagon for a load of goods. Johnson took aboard two sacks of sugar, four sacks of flour and a case of concentrated lye, the whole worth $17. Instead of proceeding to Florence with the goods he tarried at wayside saloons to indulge his appetite for strong drink. Running short of cash he conceived the brilliant idea of selling part of his load of grocery supplies. He readily disposed of 100 pounds of sugar at the Palm Garden saloon and cafe for $1. With the proceeds he got very drunk and finally left the remainder of his load at a livery stable on Aliso street.
